

Common Restroom Agreement For Establishments with Multiple Food Facilities

The Environmental Health Division is concerned that all retail food operators acknowledge responsibility for maintenance of common restrooms on premises where one or more retail food facilities share restrooms.

While agreements or contracts between business owners and property owners might exist, California Health and Safety Code holds the permittee of a food facility legally responsible for compliance with standards, including those standards applying to restrooms used by food facilities.

By way of this agreement, you as owners/operators of retail food facilities, accept mutual responsibility for compliance with the physical and sanitary requirements of the California Retail Food Code applying to restrooms used in common.
