

Common Restroom Agreement For Establishments with Multiple Food Facilities

On premises where one or more retail food facilities sharing common restrooms the Division of Environmental Health is concerned that all retail food operators on the premises acknowledge responsibility for maintenance of such restrooms.

While agreements or contracts between business owners and property owners might exist, California Health and Safety Code holds the permittee of a food facility legally responsible for compliance with standards, including those standards applying to restrooms used by food facilities.

By way of this agreement, you as owners/operators of retail food facilities, accept mutual responsibility for compliance with the physical and sanitary requirements of the California Retail Food Code applying to restrooms used in common.
